

Seminar Outline

Private Training in EDS/EAV

(Electro-Dermal Screening)
According to Dr. Voll

Andreas Marx is a Doctor of Oriental Medicine, a licensed acupuncturist and Naturopath. He studied in Germany where he trained under leading authorities in EAV, Acupuncture, Homeopathy, Herbal Medicine, and other naturopathic disciplines.

Dr. Marx was invited to the United States specifically to lecture and present workshops in these fields. His many years of practical experience includes drainage therapies, homotoxicology, homeopathy, dysbiosis, chelation, clinical ecology, dark field microscopy and terrain assessment. His focus and research have been in the area of parasitology and fungal conditions. He presently resides in Oregon.

One-and-a-half day practical training

- Obtaining reliable point measurements. (This procedure can be very difficult to learn in large groups and will be taught on a one-to-one basis.)
- Point protocols for specific conditions. (This easy-to-learn condensed version will allow you to use your test device with your patient immediately.)
- Remedy testing including Nosodes, Homeopathics, Herbal and Nutritional Supplements.
- German Biological Therapy Protocols.
- Easy and applicable summary in homotoxicology and homeopathy.

Each participant will be able to apply what has been learned immediately. The workshop includes a set of handy measurement charts and German therapy protocols.

Groups are limited to 4 - 6 people.

Date, Time and Location are scheduled on an individual basis.

German Biological Therapy Protocols

In order to achieve optimum therapy results and minimum healing crisis, German doctors practicing biological medicine developed individual Drainage Therapy Protocols. These treatments will optimize the detoxification as well as support healthy cell regeneration. Drainage therapies also decrease side effects and minimize healing crisis during Biological and Allopathic treatments. This will prevent and limit the storage of residual toxins into the connective tissue that later could lead to chronic conditions (Deposition Phase, Reckeweg).

About the seminar

EAV/EDS (Electro Dermal Screening), based on measuring skin resistance at acupuncture points, originated in the 1950's in Germany. The number of practitioners using this method today is growing worldwide.

Electro Dermal Screening is one of the finest non-invasive methods in Biological Medicine today to evaluate patients and tailor individual treatment protocols.

This practical workshop is conducted by Dr. Andreas Marx, who originally studied with Dr. R. Voll, Dr. W. Ludwig and Bernard Muschlien H.P. The workshop will cover point-and-medication testing, therapy protocols regarding Nosodes, Sarcodes, Drainage, and other supplements. He also teaches advanced private classes, including dental testing, and other unique German therapies.

The workshop format is modeled after the ones Dr. Marx has so successfully conducted over the years in Germany and America. Many practitioners attribute their above-average clinical results to these hands-on, step-by-step workshop series.
